INTRODUCTION

I am a young software engineer who recently graduated with a degree in Information Technology from Ho Chi Minh City University of Technology (HUTECH). With a passion for programming and software development, I have gained hands-on experience through various real-world projects, ranging from website development to application management. I possess strong skills in ASP.NET, HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and SQL Server, along with a creative approach to solving complex problems. Throughout my academic and professional journey, I have developed effective teamwork abilities, clear communication skills, and good time management. I am eager to learn and continuously enhance my knowledge to contribute to new projects and challenges.
